PREFACE

R2000
1917

The Hill Directory Company, Inc., 909 East Main Street, Room 823, Richmon Va., take pleasure in presenting to the public the tenth edition of the Hill Director Company's Virginia Business Directory and Gazetteer for 1917.

On page 69 will be found a list of the Post, Express and Telegraph Offices in t State arranged alphabetically, which is a more convenient form than they are to be fou in any other publication.

Every city, town, village and county in the State arranged systematically in t POST OFFICE LIST, so that anyone can find them easily. List of all Banks in t State are to be found on page 21.

Immediately following the regular index, from page 10 to 15, will be found the Bus ness Classification Index, showing the advertisers in Virginia as well as outside arrang under their respective business headings.

The Buyers Guide, from page 27 to 68, contains the advertisements of the progressiv business houses throughout Virginia, as well as a good many others outside the State.

At the beginning of every county will be found a descriptive sketch of that coun giving in a condensed form its advantages, its soil, its crops, or, in other words, a co densed history in a readable form.

387654
R.L.P. 1-10-17

In addition to the above information will be found in the back of the book an up-t date map of the State, giving all the Railroads and other general information.

In order to find any particular city, town or village, look in the list o POSTOFFICES, page 69, which gives the county in which the desired place is located.

Much valuable information, which may be found at the beginning of each coun and city, has not been indexed, such as value of real estate and personal prop lation number of voters, (white and colored), area in acres and so value of land per acre, county seats, courts, county and city and cities; also location and population of postoffices in the head of "Farmers." There is also much information in th eous Departme which has not been indexed in detail.

Hoping that the public will receive this in the same generous way in which they ha received its predecessors, we remain,

Very respectfully,

Atlantic Life Insurance Company

RICHMOND, VA.

EDMUND STRUDWICK, President

The oldest and strongest old line (non-industrial) Southern Life Insurance Company.

Its policy contracts are issued on every approved form. They are liberal in all their provisions—unrestricted as to residence, occupation, and travel. Its dividends to policyholders are as large as as any, and larger than many.

It is managed by Southern business men of the highest standing in their respective communities. It is a Southern Company for Southern people. It has sold more insurance in Virginia for the past six years than any other company.

The reason for this is because Virginia Opportunities.

The opportunities in Virginia for the man of energy and ambition are many. No State in the Union has more. They include manufacturing along many lines, general farming, live stock raising, dairy farming, poultry raising, fruit and truck growing.

Virginia lands, properly handled, will grow the largest and most profitable crops of grains, grasses, legumes, fruit of all kinds and vegetables.

The climate, the fine pasturage, the large hay yields, the pure water permit the breeding and keeping of all kinds of live stock at the lowest cost. Splendid home markets and the fine transportation facilities to the greatest cities of the country give to breeders of live stock, dairy farmers and poultry raisers the best advantages.

No better fruit is known than can be produced in Virginia orchard districts. There is room for many more fruit growers and there are the lands which will give them splendid returns.

In every line of agriculture, farm gardening to dairying, the farmer can find no better location than in Virginia.

Conditions make Virginia pre-eminently a State for home, for the small farmer, or for the man who wishes a country estate.

The Southern Railway reaches preferred districts in Virginia, serving many different sections of the State. You can undoubtedly find along its lines the opportunities you are seeking.

A request to the Industrial and Agricultural Department of the Southern Railway will bring you information about lands, locations, farm and home opportunities, factory sites and other industrial and business openings.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

VIRGINIA CHRISTIAN COLLEGE is one of the leading Co-educational Colleges on the Atlantic slope—inter-denominational—having students and faculty representing the leading denominations of this country. The faculty represents Harvard, Yale, University of North Carolina, Columbia, Chicago University, University of Virginia and other leading universities of this country, as well as those of Germany and France.

The college is in the suburbs of Lynchburg, the campus comprising eighty-six acres of ground; about three-fourths of which is covered with a natural forest of hickory, poplar, walnut, ash, chestnut and a variety of monarch oak. It also has five mineral springs. All is surrounded by mountains and valleys for which Virginia is famed. Twenty-four minutes on electric cars from the main streets of a busy, industrial city of over thirty thousand inhabitants; handsome new buildings; modern equipment. Courses are offered leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science. Also courses in fine arts are offered.

The following departments of study are represented:

I. THE COLLEGE.

In the College, courses are offered in the following culture subjects: Applied Mathematics, Astronomy, Biblical History and Literature, Biology, Chemistry, Commercial Geography, Commercial Law, Economic Geology, Economics, Education, English Language, English Literature, French, General Geology, German, Government, Greek, History, Italian, Latin, Mathematics, Philosophy, Physics, Public Speaking, Sociology and Spanish.

By virtue of the elective system, the undergraduate can select any one of a large number of liberal four-year courses, leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science.

II. DEPARTMENT OF GRADUATE STUDIES.

This department offers opportunity for advanced instruction in the subjects taught in the College, and of acquiring the methods of original research. The degrees offered are Master of Arts, Master of Science, and Doctor of Philosophy.

III. DEPARTMENT OF ENGINEERING.

Five distinct courses are offered, leading to degrees in Civil, Mining, Mechanical, Electrical and Chemical Engineering, and requiring for their completion four years each. Graduates of College admitted with advanced standing in Mathematics and in the Sciences. Special two-year courses are arranged for students who are unable to afford the time and money needed for completing the full degree course of four years.

IV. DEPARTMENT OF LAW.

The candidate for the LL. B. degree is required to attend three full sessions. A valuable special course is provided for students who cannot attend a full course, and who are not candidates for the degree. The Library facilities are excellent.

V. DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE.

The prominent features of the course are extensive laboratory instruction in the fundamental sciences and thorough practical training in the University Hospital, where students have many of the ADVANTAGES USUALLY GRANTED ONLY TO INTERNES.

All laboratory courses are given by full-time instructors, each a specialist in his own branch. Instruction of students is the primary work of instructors in medicine and surgery, whose practice is largely limited to the University Hospital. Four-fifths of the cases in this hospital are available and used for clinical instruction.

VI. SUMMER SCHOOL.

The Summer School offers courses for college credit leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science, thus enabling students to shorten the time required for these degrees. Courses are also offered which prepare for entrance or absolve conditions. In addition to these, numerous courses are given for the professional training of High School principals, High School teachers, and school administrators.

Short courses are offered in The College for those unable to enter at opening of session. Tuition in Academic Departments free to Virginians. Loan Funds available. All other expenses reduced to a minimum. SEND FOR CATALOGUE.

Kellam Hospital, Inc.
1627 WEST MAIN STREET
RICHMOND, - - - - VIRGINIA

The Kellam Hospital is without parallel in the cure of Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores, and we want every man and woman in the United States to know that we have cured without the use of the knife, X-ray, radium or acids over 90 per cent. of the many hundreds of sufferers treated during the past 18 years.

Area—Acres, 255,391; square miles, 390.

County Seat—Accomac.

Accomac, together with Northampton county, in 1634, constituted one of the eight original shires into which Virginia was divided, and what is known as the "Eastern Shore" of Virginia. In 1642 it changed its name to Northampton, but in 1663 resumed its original name, taken from that of a tribe of Indians (Accawmacke, who first inhabited this section of the State). It is bounded on the north by the State of Maryland, south by Northampton county, Va., east by the Atlantic Ocean, and west by the Chesapeake Bay. This county is indented on the east and west by numerous sounds, inlets and smaller water courses which are more or less farmed by oyster planters, and being navigable nearly their entire length, furnish means of transportation to the markets of the large cities of the North and East. The New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad greatly facilitates intercourse and business communication between the people of our own and other States and this section, and makes it one of the most favored portions of Virginia. Accomac is chiefly renowned for the great production and superior excellence of its sweet potatoes, of which it raises four times as much as any other county, and more than one-fourth of the whole quantity in the State. Varied trucking, with the growth of large and small fruits in constantly increasing acreage, bid fair to make in this country a formidable rival to the richly developed lands of Norfolk county. In the growth of Irish potatoes it ranks second, Norfolk being first. Corn, oats and wheat are plentifully produced, and the dairy products are more than sufficient for the needs of the people. Besides oysters of unequalled flavor, fish in great variety and finest kinds abound, and are made a source of revenue as well as an important article of food to the inhabitants. The educational facilities in this county are very good, there being a number of excellent private as well as 115 white and 32 colored public schools.

County Seat—Charlottesville.

Albemarle county, situated at the eastern base of the Blue Ridge mountains, in the far-famed Piedmont region of Virginia, was formed from Goochland in 1744, and is one of the largest, richest and most populous in the State. It has for its boundaries on the east the counties of Fluvanna and Louisa; north, Orange and Greene; west, Nelson county and the Blue Ridge mountains, which divide it from Augusta, and south, James river, which separates it from Buckingham. The lands in this county, which are of a superior quality and in a high state of cultivation, are watered and drained in the north by the Rivanna and on the south Hardware rivers and their tributaries. The James river division of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad skirts its southern border, and the main line traverses it from east to west, and the Southern railway from north to south. The principal productions are corn, rye, wheat and tobacco. There are a number of large mills, which manufacture in great quantities and superior quality; and the cotton and woolen goods are not surpassed by those made in any other section of the United States. In orchard productions Albemarle is the third county in the State. The Albemarle pippin grown here has a reputation which is world-wide. Grape culture is extensively carried on, the principal and most profitable varieties being the Concord, Ives, Clinton and Norton's Virginia. The mineral found in the county are gold, iron, lead, slate, limestone, sandstone and soapstone. The timbers are oak, chestnut, walnut, locust, pine, hickory, poplar, maple and beech. Shadwell, on the Rivanna river, is noted for having been the birthplace of Thomas Jefferson. The educational facilities are very great, for besides the University of Virginia there are a large number of private schools and academies for both males and females, besides 145 public schools. One of the finest institutions of the State, and where an incalculable amount of good is being done in the elevation and ennobling of labor, is the Miller Manual Labor School, founded by Samuel Miller, of Lynchburg, Va. Here both boys and girls are taught.

Charlottesville, the county seat of Albemarle, is beautifully and healthfully situated in the picturesque valley of the Rivanna, between the Blue Ridge and Southwest Mountains, at the intersection of the Southern and Chesapeake and Ohio Railways. It is renowned for being the seat of the University of Virginia, and also its close proximity to Monticello, which signifies "Little Mountain," the residence and burial place of Thomas Jefferson, the immortal founder of the Institution. The University was founded in 1819 and opened to students in 1825. It has been attended of recent years by about six hundred students annually, exclusive of those who attend the private summer classes, amounting to one hundred or more on an average.

Charlottesville is 97 miles distant by rail from Richmond, 117 from Washington. The population is about 7,000 and the society most excellent.

County Seat—Clarendon

Alexandria County, Virginia the smallest, but one of the richest counties in the state, was originally a part of Fairfax County, being that part ceded to the General Government in 1801, for the seat of Government. By the act of retrocession of 1847 it became again a part of Virginia and was named Alexandria County. It has an area of twenty-six square miles and a population at this time of about 15,000. The assessed value of the real estate other than Public Service Corporations is $7,742,930. The qualified voters number 2,000 of whom 1,800 are white and 200 colored.

Alexandria County, is no longer a rural or agriculture community, it is growing into one large city over looking the National Capital. The finest schools and school-buildings in the state are located here. Modern macadam roads, electric lights, telephone and telegraph lines, gas and water mains, and a network of perfectly equipped electric railways make this county the most desirable residential section surrounding Washington. Most of the land is subdivided into building lots and the whole county is covered with attractive modern homes costing from $2,000 to $50,000 each.

The Arlington National Cemetery, the most beautiful in the country and Fort Myer, Military Post, visited by thousands of tourists every year are located here. Overlooking the beautiful Potomac River and Washington City and adjoining the home of Admiral Presley M Rixey, we have the Washington Country Club, where our President, the members of the Cabinet, the Diplomatic Corps Congress and other prominent Washingtonians play Tennis and Golf every day.

Kellam Hospital, Inc.
1027 WEST MAIN STREET
RICHMOND, - - - - VIRGINIA

The Kellam Hospital is without parallel in the cure of Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores, and we want every man and woman in the United States to know that we have cured without the use of the knife, X-ray, radium or acids over 90 per cent. of the many hundreds of sufferers treated during the past 18 years.

The city of Alexandria, originally called Bellhaven, is delightfully located on the west bank of the Potomac river, six miles below and in view of the National Capital, with it has hourly rail and ferry connection. It was incorporated in 1779, at which time it was a part of Fairfax county. Its harbor is a very fine one, and capable of accommodating vessels of the heaviest tonnage. Five regular lines of steamers touch at its wharves. The schools of Alexandria are among the best in the State, the social and moral standing, health and accessibility of Alexandria makes it a very desirable place to which parents can send their children. The city contains within its limits several important manufacturing establishments, among them extensive steam pump factory (largest in the United States), flouring mills, several machine shops, carriage factories, large tannery, extensive coal and lumber yards, two daily and weekly papers, &c. This city was the home town of Geo. Washington, who spent much of his time here, when in private life.

Alleghany County

Value of real estate, 1916, White $4,095, 838; Colored $134,255; Total $4,230,093.
Value of personal property, White, $1,797, 802; Colored, $22,100; Total $1,819,902.
Income—$93,093
Population, 1916—14,173.
Number voters—White, 2,227; colored, 272
Area—Acres, 347,894; square miles, 556
County Seat—Covington.

This county was formed in 1822 from Bath, Botetourt and Monroe. It is bounded on the north by Bath, south by Rich Patch and Potts mountain, which partly divides it from Botetourt, Craig and Monroe counties, east by Rockbridge and on the west by the Alleghany chain of mountains, which seperates it from Greenbrier county, and from which the county derives its name. The surface is for the most part mountainous. This region contains large deposits of iron ore, the development of which has recently become a subject of interest to capitalists, many of whom have invested large means in the purchase of lands and erection of furnaces to the end of the manufacture of pig iron. The Chesapeake and Ohio railway traverses the county, connecting with the Hot Springs railroad at Covington in this county. The Peters and Warm Springs mountains extend through the county in unbroken range, except at Covington, at which point there is a narrow gap through which the Jackson river winds its way. The passage of the Jackson river is through a gap between Rich Patch mountain and Wilson's Hill.

The northern and middle portion of the county is watered by the Jackson and Cow Pasture rivers, which unite in Botetourt, near the Alleghany line and form the James. The valleys of the south are watered by Pott's and Dunlap's creeks, the principal branches of Jackson river.

Covington

Covington, the county seat of Alleghany county, is the center of a district rich in agricultural, timber and mineral resources. The health conditions are well nigh perfect. The city is within 25 miles of the famous Virginia Hot Springs, Warm Springs and West Vriginia White Sulphur Springs, and the climate and scenery are delightful.

The population is 6,500. There is a high school and an elementary school. The ten churches represent all the principal denominations. The gravity system water supply, owned and operated by the city, represents an investment of $100,000, and real values largely in excess of these figures. The sanitary sewers cover the city, sewer connections being compulsory by municipal ordinance. Two large hotels and two smaller houses of public entertainment afford modern hotel accommodations. Covington has one daily and two weekly newspapers.

A large hydro-electric power company furnishes power for a number of Covington's industries and lights for the ctiy. Covington has two national banks and one State bank, with resources of $1,900,000. Adequate transportation facilities and advantageous freight rates are furnished by the main line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway. There are fifty stores in Covington, which do a profitable business in the city and in the adjoining territory.

The logical combination of unusually satisfactory labor and transportation conditions with limitless stores of raw materials, has produced an imposing array of manufacturing operations in Covington. The important trade incident to the upkeep of this larg industrial population is being constantly augmented by a growing business with the adjoining agricultural regions, as the farmers are turning from grazing and one-crop methods to the diversified farming for which the splendid soils of the district are so admirably adapted. The expenditures for good roads in the county amount to $20,000 a year. Fifty convicts have been worked on the roads for two years past and an equal force will be so employed during the next two years

Covington's manufactured products include various important commodities. Covington's ice factory, with a business which covers several adjoining towns, has a daily capacity of fifty tons. One blast furnace has a capacity of 150 tons of pig iron per day. A large steam tannery. Two flouring mills have a daily capacity of 220 barrels of flour and 500 bushels of meal. One large foundry manufactures stokers, gas engines and castings, and a smaller foundry is engaged in general repair work. There are two lumber and planing mills, two brick plants and a number of less important operations.

Few cities of five thousand and odd inhabitants show more gratifying industrial conditions. The ten principal plants represent an investment of $4,943,500, employing about 1,500 operatives, and disburse in Covington a yearly payroll amounting to $1,245,000.

Population, 1916—8,720.

Number voters—White, 948; colored, 1,255.

Area—Acres, 224,256; square miles, 349.

County Seat—Amelia Court-House.

This county was formed from Prince George in 1734. The Appomattox river skirts its entire northern and eastern border, and forms the dividing line on the north between the counties of Cumberland and Powhatan and east Chesterfield. Namozine creek separates it from Dinwiddie on the east. Nottoway county bounds it on the south and Prince Edward and Cumberland on the west. This county is bountifully watered by the Appomatox and its many tributaries, the principal of which are the Namozine, Deep, Winticomack and Flat creeks, each one of which courses from northern to southern limits of the county. The Southern Railway traverses the county from north to south, dividing it into two nearly equal parts. The farm lands are very productive, raising large quantities of tobacco (about 2,000,000 pounds annually) of fine grade, besides corn, oats, wheat and market vegetables and fruits and dairy products. There are large mineral deposits, and among them may be mentioned iron, soapstone, plumbago, mica and asbestos.

Value of personal property, white, $682,235; colored, $85,275; total, $767,510.

Income, $23,526.

Population, 1916—18,932.

Number voters—White, 2,593; colored, 1,271.

Area—Acres, 302,891; square miles, 460.

County Seat—Amherst Court House.

This county was formed in 1761 from Albemarle. It lies at the eastern base of the Blue Ridge, which divides it from Rockbridge, and is about 100 miles due west from Richmond—138 miles by railroad. Bedford, Campbell and Appomattox are on the south, Nelson on the north and east. The farming land is of the finest quality, and its products of corn, tobacco, wheat, &c., find a convenient market in the thriving city of Lynchburg, which is located on the opposite side of James river, from its southern boundary. At the county seat, Amherst, there is a warehouse and tobacco factories. Recent operations in this county have discovered some twenty-five parallel veins of iron ore, varying in width from five to sixty feet. Copper ore is found in great abundance, as is also slate and soapstone. The Southern Railway traverses the county from north to south, and the James river branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway skirts its whole southern border, as does also the James river. Its other water courses are the Pedlar, Tye, Buffalo and Piney rivers, all of which empty into the James.

Value of personal property—White $673,-282; colored, $37,754. Total $711,036.
Income, $8,564.
Population, 1916—8,904.
Number voters—White, 1,384; colored, 548.
Area—Acres, 208,164; square miles, 333.
County Seat—Appomattox.

This county was formed in 1845 from parts of Buckingham, Charlotte, Campbell and Prince Edward. It lies on the south side of James river, and is bounded on the east by Buckingham and Prince Edward counties, south by Campbell and Charlotte, west by Campbell, north by Nelson and Amherst, from which it is separated by James river. The county is watered by the James, Appomattox, Falling and Holaday rivers, Big and Little Cub, Reedy, Wreck Island, Bent, Davids, Stonewall and Horsepen creeks. There are a large number of springs, including freestone and mineral waters in great variety. The surface is rolling and in some portions of the county hilly. The soil varies from red clay into a gray slate, of a light texture, with a red sub-soil, and is well adapted to the cultivation of wheat, corn, oats, tobacco, timothy, clover and orchard grass. Shipping tobacco of a very fine quality is raised in large quantities and is relied on as the principal money crop, the average yield per acre being from 1,000 to 1,500 pounds.

Timber is abundant and of valuable kinds, consisting principally of white oak, black oak, Spanish oak and post oak, hickory, chestnut, popular, locust, pine, ash and sweet gum. Fruit and vegetable culture can be made very profitable in this county, as the soil is admirably adapted to peaches, apples, cherries, grapes, strawberries, etc. Stock thrives well, and it is not an uncommon thing to graze cattle and sheep all the year around. The minerals are gold, iron, copper, manganese and asbestos. It is traversed by the Norfolk and Western Railroad, which extends through the county from east to west, while its northern boundary is skirted by the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. Railroad ties, bark and sumac are shipped in large quantities. The old county seat (Appomattox C. H.) has become famous in history as being the scene of the last struggle of the Southern Confederacy for its independence. This region abounds in large mineral deposits, chief of which, iron, is found in large quantities in the northern part of the county.

The county is abundantly supplied with churches.

County Seat—Staunton

Augusta was formed from Orange in 1738, and is one of the largest counties in the State, Rockingham county bounds it on the north, the Blue Ridge Mountains on the east, dividing it from Albemarle and Nelson, Rockbridge on the south and the Shenandoah Mountains on its western border, dividing it from Bath and Highland counties and the State of West Virginia. It is at the head of the Shenandoah Valley at its widest part. The North, South and Middle rivers, which form the Shenandoah, water and have their rise in this county. The lands are immensely rich and productive, and yield large crops of wheat, corn, oats, rye and the grasses. Augusta has long been the first county in the State in the production of wheat and the hay crop, raising over half million bushels of wheat and 24,000 tons of hay. In the number of horses it ranks first; milch cows third; in butter-making and value of farm products second.

The numerous mountain ranges in the eastern and western part of the county afford excellent pasturage for horses and cattle and stock of all kinds. Augusta is noted for the large number and superior excellence of its flouring mills, having a larger number and employing more capital than any other county in the State except Henrico, in which the extensive mills of Richmond city are located.

The timbers found in this county are chestnut, walnut, oak, pine, ash and poplar. The minerals are iron, manganese, marble, slate, coal, kaolin, ochre, and limestone. There are many valuable mineral springs, which have acquired celebrity because of their medicinal properties, that are vistied annually by large numbers, residents of other States as well as of Virginia. The Cyclopean Towers and Madison Cave, near Mount Solon, and Weyer's Cave, sixteen miles northeast of Staunton, are among the greatest curiosities of the State. The educational advantages are all set forth in the Staunton description which follows the county matter.

Staunton, the county seat of Augusta, is on the Chesapeake and Ohio and Valley Branch of the B .& O. Railways, at an altitude of 1,500 feet above the level of, and 175 miles distant from the sea. It was incorporated in 1802 and was made a city in 1871, is the principle city of the Valley of the Shenandoah, and is in point of population the eleventh city in Virginia. The Climate of Staunton is delightfully salubrious and healthful—its high mountain ranges protecting it from the severe storms that sweep the Atlantic coast on the east and the Mississippi Valley on the west. The Western Hospital for insane and the Virginia School for the Deaf & Blind for the education of deaf, dumb and blind are points of interest and worthy objects of the support extended by the State and the pride felt in them by her people. They are imposing and magnificent structures, surrounded by beautifully improved grounds, where the inmates find recreation and enjoyment. In respect to the educational advantages offered by the Female and other colleges, we will say they are all of a high order.

There are operated here several machine shops and agricultural implement manufacturing establishments. There are several other manufactories of different kinds, including two large flouring mills and one extensive overalls factory, besides a large number of first-class mercantile concerns which do a safe and profitable business. The hotel accommodations are excellent and ample.

County Seat—Warm Springs

Bath was organized in 1790 from Augusta, Botetourt and Greenbrier. This county is thickly studded with numerous mountain ranges, which furnish excellent pasturage for the horses, cattle and sheep that are annually raised here. The valley lands, though small in area, are quite rich, and produce good crops of corn, oats and wheat. The dairy and orchard products are more than sufficient for the needs of the people. The Alleghany Mountains bound Bath on the west, dividing it from the State of West Virginia. Mill and Walker's Mountains on the east seperate it from Rockbridge and Augusta, while the counties of Highland and Alleghany bound it on the north and south. The Warm Springs Mountains divide the county into two nearly equal parts, the eastern of which is drained and watered by the headwaters of the Cow Pasture, and the western by the headwaters of the Jackson river. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway enters the county at Panther Gap and extends through it fifteen miles, going out over the Cow Pasture river at the extreme southeastern limit. The climate is dry, healthy and invigorating, and the scenry unsurpassed in the mountains of Virginia. Iron ore of different varieties and in large quantities are found here.

Bath, more than any other county in Virginia, is celebrated for its mineral springs, the remedial and restorative properties of which have so often been tried to good effect, after the resources of medical science have been exhausted in vain. Of these health-giving fountains the Warm Sulpher Springs were the first known to the white man. Soon after their discovery they became celebrated for their curative virtues, and even ninety years ago they were resorted to by many visitors at much labor and fatigue. They are five miles from the Hot, eight from the Healing, five from the Bath Alum, and only a few hours ride from the famous Greenbrier, White Sulphur, the Sweet, the Sweet Chalybeate and the Rockbridge Alum Springs. Blowing Cave, in this county, is one of the great natural curiosities of the State.

County Seat—Bedford.

This county was formed in 1753 from Lunenburg. It lies at the eastern base of the Blue Ridge Mountains, which form the natural boundaries between it and the counties of Botetourt and Roanoke on the west. The James river skirts and forms its northern boundary, dividing it from Amherst, while the Staunton river shapes and bounds it on the south, seperating it from Franklin. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, extending along the south branch of the James river in this county, the Norfolk and Western through its middle part from east to west, and the Virginian Railway through the southern part from east to west, furnish convenient, rapid and cheap transportation to all the principal markets of the North and West. The county is irrigated by the waters of Goose creek and Otter river, the latter giving name to the celebrated Peaks of Otter, the sublime and magnetic grandeur of which has inspired the soul of the poet and moved to noble effort the pencil of the artist. They are the loftiest, with few exceptions, in the Southern States, having an altitude above the level of the sea of over 5,200 feet, or over a mile. They can be distinctly seen on clear days from Lynchburg, in Campbell county, twenty-five miles distant. This is one of the richest, most productive and thickly settled counties in the valley of the James, yielding annually large crops of wheat, corn, rye, oats and tobacco. It ranks in the production of oats, second; tobacco, third; in the number of horses raised, sixth; mules, fifth; and fourth as to number of milch cows, quantity of butter, and value of orchard products. The character of the mountain lands in the western part of the county is most excellent for grazing, and some of the finest specimens of horses, cattle and sheep are raised on them. This county is rich in minerals, iron barites, mica, slate, lead and limestone being found in large quanities and of superior quality. The timber land is extensive and valuable, the principal kinds being chestnut, walnut, hickory, pine and white oak.

Bland County

Value of real estate, 1916—White, $1,051,-522; colored, $4,814. Total $1,056,336
Value of personal property—White $568,-851; colored $2,320. Total $571,187.
Income, $800.
Population, 1916—5,154.
Number voters—White 1,057; colored, 25.
Area—Acres, 256,949; square miles, 360.
County Seat—Bland.

Bland was formed in 1861 from Wythe, Giles and Tazewell. It is one of the mountain counties bordering on West Virginia. It has for its boundary on the north, East River Mountain, separating it from Mercer county, West Virginia; on the south the top of Walker's Little Mountain divides it from Wythe county; Tazewell county bounds it on the northwest; Smyth county on the west, and Giles and Pulaski on the east.

The valley lands are very rich, and where cultivated readily produce good crops of corn, rye, oats, wheat, potatoes and the grasses, blue grass being naturally adapted to its soil. The county is watered by the Walker and Wolf creeks and other smaller streams tributary of New river, except the waters of the "West End" of the county, which flows into the Holston. There are a number of fine mineral springs in the county, Kimberling and Sharon being the most celebrated. The minerals found in the county are coal, iron, lead, zinc and silver. The timber are pines, walnut, poplar, ash, the oaks, maple, sugar and beech.

Area—Acres, 289,249; square miles, 706.

County seat—Fincastle.

Botetourt county, named in honor of Lord Botetourt, appointed Governor of Virginia, it being divided on the east from Bedford by the Blue Ridge; on the west from Alleghany by the Rich Patch; on the south from Roanoke and Craig by Tinkers and North Mountains; and on the north from Rockbridge by North and Purgatory Mountains. The central part of the county is fertile and a beautiful valley, watered by the James river and the many creeks that flow into it from every section. The Cow Pasture and Jackson rivers meet in this county and form the James. The James river branch of the C. & O. Railway, which, following the course of the old James River and Kanawha canal, extends into the county from the east almost to the centre, and the Norfolk and Western road, extending through the county from northeast to southwest, gives people of this county facilities second to none other in the State for the transportation of stock and market products. Large quantities of corn, oats, wheat and tobacco of superior quality is produced. Horses, cattle and sheep of improved and superior breeds are raised, the many mountain ranges affording excellent pasturage. There are a great many flouring and saw mills, many fruit and vegetable canning establishments, a manufactory of lime at Indian Rock and two at Eagle Rock. The dairy and orchard products are large and sources of considerable revenue to the people. The principal minerals are coal and iron. There is one large iron manufactory, employing many men. The mineral springs are of high order and wide reputation, the principal ones being the Blue Ridge and Dagger's White Sulphur.

County Seat—Lawrenceville.

Brunswick was formed in 1720 from Isle of Wight and Surry counties. This is one of the large tobacco and cotton growing counties, raising annually about 3,000 bales of cotton and over ten million pound of tobacco of superior quality, the principal part of which is grown for export. Indian corn, oats and wheat are also produced in considerable quantities. The dairy and orchard products are more than sufficient for the needs of the people. The Nottoway river skirts its entire northern border, seperating it from Dinwiddie and Nottoway counties. The State of North Carolina bounds it on the south, while the counties of Lunenberg and Mecklenburg are on the west, and Greensville on the east.

The Southern, Seaboard Air Line and Virginia Railways pass through this county, furnishing unexcelled means of conveyance for products of the county to the various markets. The lands are very productive and sell low, now, but are rapidly advancing in price

The timber industry is very important and it is estimated that the county contains over one billion feet of merchantable standing timber of excellent quality.

Buchanan County

Value of real estate, 1916—White, $4,557,680.
Value of personal property—White $689,764.
Income, $25,873.
Population, 1916—12,334.
Number voters—White, 2,395.
Area—Acres, 149,796; square miles, about 510.
County Seat—Grundy.

Buchanan was formed in 1858 from Russell and Tazewell and named in honor of President Buchanan. It is on the western slope of the dividing ridge of the Alleghany Mountains, which separates it from McDowell county, West Virginia, and Russell and Tazewell counties, Virginia. Dickenson, the greater part of which was taken from this county in 1880, bounds it on the south, and the State of Kentucky on the west. This is a very rough and mountainous county, and having no railroad facilities it is very inaccessible. The Big Sandy river bounds its extreme northern limits and waters the county by its Louisa and New Garden forks. But little of the land is under cultivation. A considerable quantity of corn and some rye, oats and wheat is raised. The vegetable and orchard productions are sufficient for home consumption, while those of the dairy are the source of considerable revenue. The land on the hills is well suited for the raising of horses, cattle of all kinds and sheep. The minerals are iron, salt and coal, and the timber, pine, oak, walnut, hickory and chestnut.

Number voters—White, 1,633; colored, 1,240.

Area—Acres, 356,026; square miles, 563.

County Seat—Buckingham.

Buckingham was formed in 1761 from Albemarle. The James river forms its northern boundary, separating it from Nelson, Albemarle and Fluvanna. Appomattox and Prince Edward are on the south, from which latter it is divided by the Appomattox river. Cumberland is on the east and Appomattox and Nelson on the west. This county occupies a central location in the State, and embraces a large section of farming lands. A considerable amount of corn, oats and wheat is grown, but the principal crop is tobacco, of which about two and a quarter million pounds are produced annually. The county is rich in minerals, the principal of which are gold, iron and slate. Copper, mica, asbestos and limestone are also found. Eleven gold mines have been reported, but there are others as yet undeveloped. Buckingham slate is noted for being the finest in the world. The quarries at Arvonia are almost inexhaustible in quantity and of superior quality. Slate river extends through the middle of the county from south to north, emptying into the James, while the Appomattox and branches of the Willis river water the southern and eastern portions. The James River division of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway skirts the whole northern border of this county, and furnishes a cheap, easy and quick means of communication and transportation. The surface for the most part is rolling, Willis Mountain being the only elevation of any prominence in the county.

County Seat—Rustburg

Campbell was formed in 1782 from Bedford, and named in honor of Gen. William Campbell, who distinguished himself during the war for independence. The James River separates it from Amherst on the north and the Staunton river from Halifax and Pittsylvania on the south. Charlotte bounds it on the east and Bedford on the west. It is watered by the Falling and Otter rivers and traversed north and south by the Southern Railway. The Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern and Virginian Railway furnishing transportation to all the markets of this country and Europe. The Lynchburg and Durham railroad has opened up to many of the finest sections of this and adjacent counties, through which the road runs, a good and convenient market at Lynchburg. It is the fourth tobacco-growing county in the State, having an annual production of about 4,000,000 pounds. A large amount of corn and some wheat and oats are raised. The dairy and orchard products are varied and valuable. The minerals are iron, manganese, barytes, marble, soapstone, kaolin and millstone. The Bedford Alum Springs are in this county, near the Bedford county line, and are resorted to annually by large numbers. The timbers are yellow pine, white, black, red and chestnut oaks, poplar, locust, walnut, hickory, black gum and sweet gum. Stock-raising is carried on quite extensively, the lands on the hills being very favorable to this industry.

Lynchburg, called the "Hill City," from the fact that it is built upon high bluffs which overhang the James river on the south side, has a population of 29,494 within her corporate limits. The town was laid out in 1876 and is named for John Lynch, upon whose land the city has practically been built. It is at the etxreme northern boundary of the county, at the junction of the Chesapeake and Ohio, Southern, Norfolk and Western and Lynchburg and Durham railroads, and enjoys the distinction of being one of the best distributing points in the South. Being in the center of a rich tobacco-growing country the manipulation of this plant was formerly the chief occupation of her people. In late years, however, her manufacturies have become greatly diversified until at the present time she manufactures nearly everything. Her pipe works, cotton and flour mills, tobacco, iron and shoe factories, bark extract works, plow works, machine shops, bartyes and maganese mills are all large enterprises which employ many men. It is the sixth largest shoe market in the United States. It rivals St. Louis in its rapid development of the shoe industry. While Lynchburg ranks among the first of our cities as a manufacturer it is mainly as a distributor of all classes of merchandise that she excels. While a few years ago the city was unknown as a wholesale dealer, to-day her merchants penetrate every portion of the Southern and Southwestern territory with a small army of traveling men. So rapid has been the strides made in this direction that Lynchburg is now one of the best known markets in the South and in some lines has distanced all competitors.

Kellam Hospital, Inc.
RICHMOND, - - - - VIRGINIA

The Kellam Hospital is without parallel in the cure of Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores, and we want every man and woman in the United States to know that we have cured without the use of the knife, X-ray, radium or acids over 90 per cent. of the many hundreds of sufferers treated during the past 18 years.

Value of personal property—White, $1,206,280; colored, $146,303. Total, $1,352,583.

Income, $13,752

Population, 1916—16,596.

Number of voters—White, 1,789; colored, 1,393.

Area—Acres, 337,126; square miles, 522.

County Seat—Bowling Green

Caroline was formed from King and Queen, Essex and King William in 1727. King George and Stafford are on the north, Hanover on the south, its mother counties on the east, and Spottsylvania and Hanover on the west. The Rappahannock river skirts the county on the north and the North Anna river on the south, while the Mattapony and its confluents, the Mat, Ta, Po and Ny rivers, flow through and water the central part. The Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad extends through the country from south to north, furnishing rail connection and communication with all points. The land is rolling and the soil of very fine quality, especially along the rivers. The principal productions are Indian corn and tobacco, of which latter there are one million pounds raised annually. A considerable quantity of hay, oats and wheat is also produced. The vegetables and butter, eggs and fruit constitute an important and valuable industry.

Population, 1916—21,116.

Number voters—White, 4,112; colored, 46.

Area—Acres, 338,623; square miles, 538.

County Seat—Hillsville

This county was formed in 1842 from Grayson and borders on North Carolina. Pulaski and Wythe bound it on the north, Floyd and Patrick on the east, and its mother county and Wythe on the west. The county is plentifully watered by the New river and several of its tributary creeks or forks. Patrick on the east and Wythe and Pulaski on the north and west are cut off by the Blue Ridge and Alleghany Mountains, respectively. These mountain ranges are specially adapted for the pasturage of horses, cattle and sheep, large numbers of which are raised. The land readily produces corn, rye, oats, wheat and the grasses; some tobacco is also grown.

County Seat—Charles City

Charles City was one of the eight original shires into which the State was divided in 1634. It is washed by the waters of the James river on the south, and the Chickahominy on the north and east, and is bounded north by New Kent, south by Prince George, east by James City, and west by Henrico. (Turkey Island Creek forming the dividing line.) The land for the most part, especially along the rivers are very productive and readily yield wheat, oats, corn and grass. The lands on the Chickahominy are well adapted to trucking.

County Seat—Charlotte Court House.

This County was formed from Lunenburg in 1764. It is bounded on the north by Appomattox and Prince Edward; on the east by Lunenburg and Mecklenburg; on the south by Halifax, and on the west by Campbell. The county is watered by the Staunton river, which skirts its entire southern border, and the headwaters of the Meherrin extending into it from the east. The Southern Railway extends through this county from north to south and the Virginia Railway through the northern part of the county. This is one of the finest tobacco growing counties in the State, the annual yield amounting to more than three and a quarter million pounds. The wheat crop of this county is small; but a considerable quanity of corn and oats are produced. The products of the dairy are not large but more than sufficient for the needs of the people.

County Seat—Berryville.

Clarke was formed in 1836 from Frederick, and named in honor of General George Rogers Clarke, who distinguished himself in the Indian and Revolutionary wars. It lies at the head of the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia, and borders on the West Virginia line. The Blue Ridge Mountains form its eastern boundary, dividing it from Loudoun and Fauquier. Warren county is on the south and its mother county on the west. The wheat lands are among the finest in the State, and the average per acre exceeds any other. Indian corn, rye, and oats are also raised in very large quantities. The raising of cattle is very extensively carried on, and the cities of Washington, Baltimore, New York, etc., are convenient markets for their sale. The Shenandoah Valley branch of the Norfolk and Western road extends through the central part of the county from north to south, and brings it into communication with all the different sections of the country. The Shenandoah river winds its course along the base of the Blue Ridge, and with its several branches plentifully waters the country. There are a number of large mills, which manufacture fine grades of flour that find ready sale in Northern markets. The ores found here are iron, copper and lead. Iron ore is considerably mined, promising to become lucrative.

Berryville (original name Battletown), the county seat of Clarke county, is a thriving growing town. It is also a station on the Norfolk and Western Railwoy. Since the completion of the railroad there has been great activity in business, and it is one of the most important stations on the road. Surrounded by rich and fertile country, with four macademized roads centering in the town, it thus receives nearly all the staples of the county, and at the same time has fine roads for drives in every direction. There are a large number of mercantile and manufacturing establishments.

County Seat—New Castle.

Craig county was formed in 1851 from Botetourt, Roanoke, Giles and Monroe, and was named for the Hon, John Craig, of Montgomery county. Its lands are well watered and fertile. It abounds in springs of limestone, free stone and mineral waters. The Craig Healing Springs have become famous on account of the excellent medical properties of of their waters. Iron ore is abundant and large quanities being taken from the Fenwick mines. The principal timbers are oak, hickory, ash, poplar, pine, sycamore and sugar maple. The chief industries are the raising of corn, wheat, oats, rye, buckwheat, grass, stock, poultry and fruits. The raising of poultry has become a very important industry, thousands of turkeys being raised annually for market.

New Castle, the county seat, is the terminus of the Craig Valley branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, and is a thriving town.

County Seat—Culpeper.

Culpeper was formed in 1748 from Orange and named in honor of Lord Culpeper, governor of the colony for three years from 1680. The Rapidan river is on its southern border and the Rappahannock on the north and east. Rappahannock and Madison counties bound it on the west, Orange on the south, and Fauquier on the north and east. The Southern Railway traverses this county from north to south, furnishing most excellent transportation facilities. Culpeper raises annually about 500,000 bushels of Indian corn, and a large amount of rye, oats, wheat and hay. She has also gained an enviable reputation for the superior quality of her live stock. Gold and iron are minerals found in this county.

Population, 1916—9,195.

Number voetrs—White, 787; colored, 993.

Area—Acres, 195,096; square miles, 301.

County Seat—Cumberland.

This county, formed from Goochland in 1748, lies on the south side of the James river, with Powhatan and Amelia on the east, Prince Edward on the south, and Buckingham on the west. The Appomattox extends along the lower or southern half of its eastern border and for the entire length of its southern. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway courses its northern and Norfolk and Western its southern borders. Distance from the Courthouse to Richmond 57 miles. The Tidewater and Western railroad runs through the county about thirty miles from the Powhatan line on the northeast to the town of Farmville on the southwest. The lands on the rivers are very fertile and produce fine and large crops of tobacco, wheat, corn, rye, oats, etc. Cartersville, on the James river, is the principal town, and from it and Farmville, in Prince Edward county, on the opposite side of Appomattox river, most of the products of the county are shipped.

Area—Acres, 184,936; square miles, 511.

County Seat—Clintwood.

Dickenson was formed in the year 1880 from the counties of Wise, Buchanan and Russell, and named in honor of William J. Dickenson, who was a member of the House of Delegates from Russell at that time. The county is bounded on the north by the State of Kentucky, on the east by Buchanan, on the south by Russell, and on the west by Wise county. The products are corn, rye, oats, wheat, grass and fruits. A large portion of the county is in timber, and some of the finest to be found in the State. There is abundance of coal and iron, besides a number of mineral springs. This county is very mountainous. There is a railroad from Dante, Va., Russell county, to Elkhorn, Ky., running with McClure river. This railroad, the C., C. & O., goes direct through the so-called Breaks of Cumberland mountain, known for its beautiful scenery. From the railroad through these mountains the scenery is equal to any part that can be found in Switzerland. None of the timber nor minerals have been removed from this county, excepting a small number of walnut and poplar trees. Pound, Crane's Nest and Russell's Fork rivers and McClure creek are the principal streams, all coursing through the Breaks of Cumberland mountains. The timber consists principally of poplar, oak, ash, cucumber, pine, hemlock, and walnut. For grass and grazing purposes, and fruit, it is one of the best counties in the State for investors, as prices are low and the resources as yet undeveloped.

Number voters—White, 1,494; colored, 1,544.

Area—Acres, 322,563; square miles, 494.

County Seat—Dinwiddie.

This county was formed from Prince George in 1752, and named in honor of Robert Dinwiddie, who was Governor of Virginia from 1752 to 1758. It lies between the Appomattox and Nottoway rivers, and is bounded on the east by Prince George, on the south by Sussex, Greenville and Brunswick, and on the west by Nottoway, and on the north by Amelia and Chesterfield. The lands throughout the county are generally of good quality, and in the vicinity of Petersburg they have been much improved. The Atlantic Coast Line railroad extends south along the eastern line; the Norfolk and Western on its northern border, and the Seaboard Air Line through the center of the county. Tobacco, peanuts and cotton are the principal products. Petersburg, its principal city, will be made the subject of a separate sketch following the county information.

Petersburg, familiarly known as the, "Cockade City," is a thriving city, situated on the south bank of the Appomattox river, 22 miles south of Richmond, on the great through lines via the Norfolk and Western railroad to the southwest, and Atlantic Coast line and Seaboard Air Line to the south. The place was founded by Peter Jones, a warm friend and fellow traveller with William Byrd (the founder of the City of Richmond), in 1733, the two having conceived the plan of building two large commercial marts for the benefit of the country adjacent thereto, at the head of navigation of the waters of the James and Appomattox rivers. Thus it gets its name of Petersburg from that of Peter Jones, its founder. In 1748 Petersburg was incorporated, and Blandford, Pocahontas and Ravenscroft united with it. The city has become, in a commercial point of view, a place of considerable importance. By their energy and indomitable spirit her merchants have succeeded in penetrating an immense extent of back country, which throws into her lap a trade sufficient to support a city of the first-class. Her citizens have not been unmindful of the necessity of affording means of transportation coastwise and have for years, aided by the general government, been engaged in the enterprise of deepening the channel of the river, so as to make it navigable for vessels of heavy burden. Manufacturing is carried on in its various branches on an extensive scale, particular in cotton and tobacco. There are also several trunk factories, machine shops and foundries doing an extensive business. The water power is very valuable and the city has an abundant supply of fine water brought in conduits from never-failing springs in the neighborhood. The Appomattox canal, penetrating the rich tobacco country, beyond, and the City Point branch of the Norfolk and Western are among the other internal Improvements that aid its commercial interests. Petersburg became famous in American history as being one of the important scenes of the expiring struggles of the Southern Confederacy.

Elizabeth City County

Value of real estate, 1916—White, $4,111,460; colored, $819,868. Total, $4,931,328.

Value of personal property—White, $2,068,030; colored, $72,860. Total, $2,140,890.

Income, $172,620.

Population, 1916—21,225.

Number of voters—White, 2,266; colored, 906.

Area—Acres, 28,551.

County Seat—Hampton.

Elizabeth City was one of the eight orginal shires established in 1634 and in area is the second smallest county in the State. It lies on Hampton Roads with the Chesapeake Bay on the east and Back River on the north, thus being almost entirely surrounded by water. York county is on the north and Warwick on the west. The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway and the many steamboat lines furnish ample transportation facilities. The products of the county are corn, oats, wheat, truck and hay. Fruits and vegetables of all kinds grow well here, and the product is large. A large number of the inhabitants are engaged in the crab and oyster fisheries which are the largest in the State.

Old Point, at the junction of Chesapeake Bay with Hampton Roads, is a favorite summer, spring and fall resort, and one of the best on the Atlantic Coast. It has a superior beach for bathing, and the boating and fishing are especially attractive. The United States school of artillery is stationed here, Fortress Monroe being within one hundred yards of the Point.

Population, 1916—9,105.

Number of voters—White, 868; colored, 1,140.

Area—Acres, 161,326; square miles, 253.

County Seat—Tappahannock

This county was formed from (Old) Rappahannock in 1692. It lies on the south side of the Rappahannock river, about forty miles northeast from Richmond. The county seat, Tappahannock, is a part of entry, and contains about six hundred inhabitants. The surface of the county is slightly hilly, and its soil, except on the margin of the streams, generally sandy. It produces good crops of corn, wheat and oats, while potatoes and other vegetables are cultivated, and with the dairy products are the sources of much revenue. There is connection with Baltimore by steamers three times a week, Fredericksburg four times, and Norfolk twice a week, and is very accessible to all the markets.

The shad and herring fisheries of this county are very valuable, many men and vessels being employed in them. The cattle raised here are very fine, the great part being shipped to Baltimore.

Population, 1916—20,536.

Number of voters—White, 4,328; colored, 1,134.

Area—Acres, 261,163; square miles, 408.

County Seat—Fairfax.

Fairfax county was formed from Prince William in 1742, and named in honor of Braxton Harris, Robt Harris, T. C. Harris, Win-Lord Fairfax. It lies on the west bank of the Potomac river, with Prince William and Loudoun on the southwestern and northwestern borders.

Falls Church, Herndon and Vienna are thriving villages. Mount Vernon, the former residence and burial place of Washington, is situated in this county, on the banks of the Potomac, eight miles below Alexandria and fifteen from Washington, from which latter place a steamer visits the place daily. There is also an electric railway connecting it with Alexandria and Washington. The grounds are in charge of the Mount Vernon Association, and are visited by thousands of persons from all parts of the world every year.

The transportation facilities are of the very best, there being hardly a place, even the most inaccessible, more than six or eight miles from some one or other of the several railroads which traverse the county, north, south, east and west.

The land throughout the county is generally good, producing corn, wheat, rye, oats, potatoes, etc. in abundance, while the raising of cattle, sheep and hogs is extensively carried on. The shad, herring and sturgeon fisheries are valuable, and employ many men and vessels and large amount of capital. Red sandstone and gray granite are found in large deposits in various sections of the county. Gold, iron, copper, asbestos and soapstone also abound. The timbers are oak, pine, chestnut, locust and walnut.

Population, 1916—22,526.

Number of voters—White, 3,496; colored 1,385.

Area—Acres, 411,619; square miles, 643.

County Seat—Warrenton.

This county was formed from Prince William in 1759 and named in honor of Francis Fauquier, who was governor from 1758 to 1767. It lies on the upper waters of the Rappahannock, which separates it from Culpeper and Rappahannock on the west, and at the foot of the Blue Ridge mountains on the west, which separates it from Warren. Its other boundaries are—north, Clark and Loudoun; south, Culpeper, and east, Prince William and Stafford. Besides the Blue Ridge there are several other mountain ranges in the county, the principal of which are the Carters, and Bull Run, which form a chain through its central part north and south. There are several thriving villages in the county. The lands are diversified, and the soil, which has been judiciously cultivated, is in a high state of improvement. The products are wheat, corn, oats and some tobacco. Much of the surface is devoted to grazing and large numbers of cattle are brought annually into this county and fattened for market. Its minerals are gold, iron, copper, asbestos, marble, slate, lime, sandstone and granite.

The sulphur springs within six miles of Warrenton, are popular as a health resort.

Value of personal property—White, $874,-863; colored, $11,840. Total, $886,703.

Income, $15,956

Population, 1916—14,092.

Number voters—White, 2,584; colored, 142.

Area—Acres, 241,699; square miles, 378.

County Seat—Floyd.

This county was formed in 1831 from Montgomery and named in honor of John Floyd, then Governor. It is bounded north by Montgomery and Roanoke, south by Patrick, east by Franklin, and west by Pulaski and Carroll, and lies between the Blue Ridge and Alleghany mountain ranges. The surface is generally mountainous and well adapted to grazing. The products are tobacco, corn, rye, oats, wheat, buckwheat—in the latter of which it stands first—and the grasses. The orchard and dairy productions are large and valuable. The Little river, a branch of New river, and its several forks, water the county. The minerals are gold, iron, copper, lead, manganese, asbestos, plumbago and soapstone.

Gold is to be found in Floyd county in paying quantities, and, in fact, sales of land and leases have already been made at marvelous prices. Many of the peaks of the mountains afford excellent views of the surrounding country, and particularly the famous Buffalo Knob, which is frequently visited by excursion parties

Population, 1916—8,323.

Number of voters—White, 1,145; colored, 625.

Area—Acres, 178,008; square miles, 261.

County Seat—Palmyra.

Fluvanna was formed in 1777 from Albemarle, and is bounded north by Louisa and Albemarle, south by Cumberland and Buckingham, east by Goochland and west by Albemarle. The Chesapeake and Ohio railway system passes through the county on the north bank of the James river, which skirts its southern border. The Rivanna extends north and south through the middle of the county, dividing it into two nearly equal parts and plentifully watering it. This is a fine farming section, and the lands readily produce excellent crops of corn, oats, grass, wheat and tobacco. The minerals are gold, iron, asbestos, soapstone and granite, and the timbers are pine, oak, walnut, hickory, beech, birch and dogwood.

Population, 1916—26,480.

Number voters—White, 4,181; colored, 805.

Area—Acres, 437,470; square miles, 684.

County Seat—Rocky Mount.

Franklin was formed from Henry and Bedford in 1784, and lies at the eastern base of the Blue Ridge mountains, which divide it from Roanoke, Montgomery and Floyd counties on the west. It has for its northern boundary the Staunton river, which separates it from Bedford, the numerous tributaries of which extend through and water all portions of the county. Pittsylvania county is on the east and Patrick and Henry on the south. The Franklin Division of the Southern Railway, and the Norfolk and Western Railway afford good facilities for the transportation of grain and other produce as well as the ores and metals with which this section abounds to the markets of Virginia and other States. This is one of the largest tobacco-growing counties. Large crops of corn, and some wheat, oats, hay and buckwheat are also raised. A great deal of attention is paid to fine stock for market and horses, milch cows and other cattle are shipped in large quantities. The dairy products pay well, while those of the orchard are considerable. The minerals are iron ,lead and soapstone, and the timbers pine, oak, hickory, walnut and chestnut.

Frederick county was formed in 1738 from Orange. It is at the northern portion of the Shenandoah Valley, and was the theatre of many of the most stirring events of the late war. The county has for its boundary on the west the North or Mittatiny mountains; east, Clarke county; south, Shenandoah county; and north, counties of Morgan and Berkley, West Virginia, which interpose themselves between Virginia and Maryland. The western part of the county is interspersed with frequent mountain ranges, the valley lands between being very productive, yielding fine crops of corn, oats, rye, wheat and the vegetables. In the value of of orchard products it stands first. Horses and cattle, in large numbers and of superior excellence, are raised and shipped to northern markets, where ready sale is made of them. The Valley Branch of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Cumberland Valley railroads through this county. The minerals are limestone. The timbers are pine, oak, hickory, walnut, locust and ash. There are large deposits of marl at Marlboro. At this place was made one of the earliest settlements in the Valley. There are several minral springs, the principal of which are the Rock Enon and Jordan White Sulphur.

Giles County

Value of real estate, 1916—White, $1,441,380; colored, $12,060. Total, $1,453,440.

Value of personal property—White, $810,716; colored, $8,770. Total, $819,486.

Income—$4,600.

Population, 1916—11,623.

Number voters—White, 2,267; colored, 151.

Area—Acres, 223,399; square miles, 351.

County Seat—Pearisburg.

Giles was formed from Monroe and Tazewell in 1806, and named in honor of Hon. W. B. Giles, one of Virginia's illustrious sons, who represented his dictrict in the Congress of the United States from 1790 to 1802, and was afterwards (1827) elected her Governor. Giles lies on the western confines of the State, adjoining West Virginia, and has for its northern and southern borders ranges of the Alleghany mountains. Craig is on the east and Bland on the west. The surface is very mountainous, and especially adapted to grazing; the finest cattle shipped from the State being from this county. The land in some parts of the county is very fertile, producing fine crops of corn, rye, wheat and tobacco. The dairy and orchard products are considerable and add greatly to the revenue of the people. The ores found are iron, lead, copper and manganese. Marble of variegated kinds is also found. There are a number of excellent springs, the principal of which are the New River White and Mountain Lake. The New river and its several branches extend through and water the county and the New River Branch, Norfolk and Western, and Virginia Railways follow the river's course through this county.

In climate, health and water, Giles county ranks with the most favored portions of the State.

To its other more notable features Giles county adds the highly important one of being the great gateway of railway travel and traffic to the famous coal fields of Virginia and West Virginia and to northern and northwestern cities.

County Seat—Gloucester.

Gloucester was formed from York in 1652, and is one of the peninsula counties whose shores are washed by the waters of the Chesapeake. It was named after Gloucestershire, in England, from which place most of the earliest settlers of the county came. The York river is on its south and west, separating it from York and James City counties, and Piankitank on its north, separating it from Middlesex.

Mathews is on the upper or northern part of its eastern border, Mob Jack Bay at its middle and Chesapeake Bay at its southern border. King and Queen county bound it on the west. The farm products, though small, are more than sufficient for home use, while those of the dairy and orchard yield good profits. Marl in great abundance is found in this county. The fisheries of Gloucester are valuable and extensvie, employing large capital and many hands. The Mobjack Bay oyster is thought by many to equal in quality and flavor those of the world-renowned Lynnhaven Bay.

Kellam Hospital, Inc.
1627 WEST MAIN STREET
RICHMOND, - - - - VIRGINIA

The Kellam Hospital is without parallel in the cure of Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores, and we want every man and woman in the United States to know that we have cured without the use of the knife, X-ray, radium or acids over 90 per cent. of the many hundreds of sufferers treated during the past 18 years.

County Seat—Goochland.

Goochland was formed from Henrico in 1727, and named in honor of William Gooch, the Colonial Governor at that time. Its southern border is skirted by the James River and traversed by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, which follows the river's course. It is plentifully watered by the James and its tributaries on the south and branches of the South Anna on the north. The counties bounding it are Louisa and Hanover on the north, Cumberland and Powhatan on the south, Henrico on the east, and Fluvanna on the west. The farm products are tobacco, wheat, corn and oats. The minerals of this county are gold, copper, coal, plumbago, mica and asbestos. The timbers are pine, oak, hickory, poplar and ash.

Income—$13,531.

Population, 1916—19,856.

Number voters—White, 3,882; colored, 159.

Area—Acres, 272,924; square miles, 443.

County Seat—Independence.

This county was formed in 1793 from Wythe, and borders on the State of North Carolina. It was named in honor of Hon. William Grayson, who was a member of the Virginia Convention of 1788, which adopted the Federal Constitution. The Iron mountain range skirts it on the north and west, and Carroll county is on the east. The New river and many of its branches extend through and water the county. The lands are quite fertile, and good crops of buckwheat, corn, rye, oats, wheat and the grasses are made. A great many horses, cattle and sheep are raised. The minerals reported are iron, copper, lead, asbestos and soapstone, and the timbers are pine (yellow and white), walnut, hickory, chestnut and oak.

County Seat—Stanardsville

This county was formed in 1838 from the western part of Orange, and was named after General Nathanial Greene of the Revolution. It lies on the eastern slope of the Blue Ridge, which seperates it from Rockingham and Page. Madison, Albemarle and Orange are on the north, south and east. Stanardsville, the county seat, is in the western part of the county, and contains about 350 inhabitants. The lands are fertile, producing corn, oats, wheat, tobacco and the domestic grasses in great perfection. Fruits, such as apples, peaches, pears, cherries and smaller kinds, grow finely and in great abundance. There are dense forests of oak and chestnut. The county is admirably adopted to raising stock and the growth of fine weel. There are several water courses in this county, tributaries of the Rapidan river, which afford ample power for mills, &c. A remarkable cascade on the headwaters of the South river, which falls over a precipice of 160 feet, is very grand and romantic. The Southern Railway at Barboursville is within short distance of the county line. The Rockingham turnpike from Harrisonburg to Gordonsville passes directly through Stanardsville and the entire county and affords ample facilities to the farmers to get produce to market. Copper ore is found in the mountain sections.

Population, 1916—11,890.

Numbers voters—White, 1,118; colored, 1,304.

Area—Acres, 188,720; square miles, 292.

County Seat—Emporia.

Greensville was formed, 1781, from Brunswick. It is one of the southern border counties, eighty miles west of the Atlantic Ocean. The Nottoway river is on its northern line, dividing it from Dinwiddie and Sussex, while the Meherrin and its branches plentifully drain and water the middle and southern portions. Sussex and Southampton counties are on the east and Brunswick on the west.

The lands in this county are adapted to the growth of cotton, peanuts, tobacco and the cereals. Cotton and peanuts are the staple crops, there being nearly 4,000 bales of cotton raised in this county. The Atlantic Coast Line, Southern and Virginian railroads pass through the county, furnishing transportation to all parts of the country.

County Seat—Houston.

Halifax was formed in 1752 from Lunenburg, and takes high rank in wealth and population. It borders on the State of North Carolina, with the counties of Campbell and Charlotte on the north, Pittsylvania on the west and Mecklenburg and Charlotte on the east. This is one of the best watered counties in the State the whole eastern and northern parts being skirted by the Staunton river, while its middle part is drained by the Banister, and the southern by the Dan, of which the Banister is tributary. The Roanoke river is formed on the eastern confines of this county by the junction of the Staunton and Dan. The Southern Railway traverses the county from northeast to southwest, and the Norfolk and Western from north to south, furnishing most excellent facilities by which to reach the different markets with its large, varied and valued productions. The Lynchburg and Durham division of the Norfolk & Western Railway traverses the county from north to south, and the Norfolk division of the Southern Railway the south side from east to west. Halifax is the centre of the great bright tobacco growing counties of Virginia and North Carolina, producing nearly double the quantity of the largest tobacco-growing county in North Carolina, and next to Pittsylvania, more than any other county in Virginia.

Rye, wheat, vegetables, fruits and the dairy products are of considerable value and pay well for the attention given them. A great many very fine horses, cattle and sheep are raised, this industry of late years growing in favor and importance as a source of wealth.

Statements that are not Questioned.

The City Directory is the most effective and most economical method of reaching all the people all the time. Those who buy without looking at the list of those who sell do themselves great injustice. The classified lists in the Business Directory form the best Buyers Guide on earth. A modern up to date method of getting what you want. Polk.

Hanover County

Value of real estate, 1916—White, $3,154,730; colored, $337,950. Total, $3,492,680.

Value of personal property—White, $1,884,631; colored, $118,075. Total, $2,002,706.

Income—$126,236.

Population, 1916—17,200.

Number voters—White, 2,627; colored, 1,289.

Area—Acres, 291,153; square miles, 457.

County Seat—Hanover.

Hanover was formed from New Kent in 1720, and extends southeast and northwest between the counties of Caroline and King William on the north and Henrico and Goochland on the south. New Kent bounds it on the east and Louisa on the west. Its northern and western parts are watered by the North and South Anna rivers, which form the Pamunkey on the northern border, and southern by the Chickahominy, which empties into the James. The river lands are productive and valuable, yielding fine crops of tobacco, corn, oats and wheat. Truck farming in Hanover is exclusively and profitably carried on. It is the banner watermelon county of the State, and, next to Accomac, the largest sweet potato grower. The Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac, the Chesapeake and Ohio railways and the Richmond & Rappahannock River Ry Co., and Chesapeake Bay Electric Line traverse the county, affording ample facilities for transportation.

Population, 1916—23,437.

Number voters—White, 2,486; colored, 1,054.

Area—Acres, 155,024; square miles, 245.

County Seat—Richmond

Henrico was one of the original shires into which the State was divided in 1634. It is on both sides of the James river, and south of Chickahominy, which separates it from Hanover. New Kent and Charles City are on the east and Goochland on the west. The lands in this county are susceptible of a high state of cultivation, as proved by the many good farmers, whose careful treatment and liberal use of fertilizers have rendered them valuable and productive. Fair crops of corn, oats, wheat and tobacco, and some barley and rye, are raised. The value of orchard and garden products is considerable, as is also that of the dairy. The minerals are coal and granite, the quality of the latter said to be the finest in the world. The timbers are pine, oak, ash, maple, cedar, hickory, walnut and chestnut. The county is traversed by the Chesapeake and Ohio, Richmond and West Point Division Southern Railway, and the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac, Seaboard Air Line and Richmond and Chesapeake Bay Electric Line, Atlantic Coast Line, Richmond & Rappahannock River Ry, Richmond and Petersburg Electric Ry Co, which afford excellent transportation facilities. Richmond, the county, which is also the State capital, will be treated in separate sketch, after county information.

Richmond, the principal city and capital of the "Old Dominion" and Henrico County, at the head of navigation and at the base of the falls of the James River, is the oldest existing English settlement in the Union. In 1609, eleven years before the "Mayflower" dropped anchor in Plymouth Harbor, a party of 129 colonists, driven from Jamestown by famine, ascended the James River, under the command of Master West, and settled at the "Falls." In 1644-'45 the General Assembly of Virginia ordered the erection of a fort, to be called "Forte Charles," at the Falls of the James River, and in 1679 Colonel Byrd was granted certain privileges on condition that he should settle "fifty well-armed and able-bodied men near the Falls as a protection to the frontier against the Indians."

But the growth of the place was slow, and it was not until the reign of George III. (in 1742) that Richmond was made a town by legislative enactment, and even then it was little more than a village.

The manufacturing and mercantile statistics of Richmond, as recently compiled, are here given:

Manufacturers.

Its manufacturing establishments and industries	2,037
Hands employed numbered	28,727
Capital invested in manufacturing enterprises	$ 36,387,460 00
Annual sales of manufactured products	99,756,763 00

Wholesale Trade.

Jobbing trade amounted to	$ 79,833,525 00

Building Trade.

Total assets (about)	85,000,000 00
Bank clearances	537,261,585 00

TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES.

Richmond is the natural gateway between the North, the West and the great Northwest, on one hand, and the rapidly expanding South, on the other, and handles an immense volume of freight exchanged between those regions; all of the great railway systems of both regions having actual termini in Richmond, or reaching this city over the rails of their direct and immediate connections; while to its east, the Atlantic Seaboard, with unrestricted advantages, is close at hand.

Among the railroads converging at Richmond are the Chesapeake and Ohio, whose rails lead in three different directions; the Southern, whose rails lead in two different directions; the Atlantic Coast Line; the Seaboard Air Line; the Norfolk and Western, with three connections (The Atlantic Coast Line, the Seaboard Air Line and the Southern Railway), the Richmond and Washington Line, and the Tidewater & Western Railroad Company, with two connections (The Atlantic Coast Line and the Southern Railway). These lines have an aggregate, owned or controlled, of 26,347 miles of road.

Situated at the head of navigation on James River, it has the advantages of water transportation. Sailing vessels and other craft engaged in foreign and domestic commerce afford means for direct shipment from its port, and two steamboat companies—the Old Dominion and the Virginia Navigation Company, plying the river regularly—as well as the rail lines, connect at Newport News, Norfolk and other points, supplying transportation to all parts of the world.

It enjoys exceptional facilities for urban and suburban travel, by means of the electric railways, consolidated under the organization of the Virginia Railway & Power Company, embracing about 120 miles of track. The Richmond & Chesapeake Bay Railway Company (an electric line) now reaching Ashland, was projected with the view, and gives promise, of most important extensions. There is also an electric line running to Petersburg, Va., and the Richmond & Rappahannock River Railway Company ultimately intended to reach Urbanna, Va., now built and operated a portion of the way.

Kellam Hospital, Inc.
1627 WEST MAIN STREET
RICHMOND, - - - - VIRGINIA

The Kellam Hospital is without parallel in the cure of Cancers, Tumors and Chronic Sores, and we want every man and woman in the United States to know that we have cured without the use of the knife, X-ray, radium or acids over 90 per cent. of the many hundreds of sufferers treated during the past 18 years.
